Gracefulness is of course the highest object of the dance among all peoples but their conceptions of what constinessed teas of thousands of dances in all parts of the world, who has pene trated to the interior of Africa and the desolate mountains of western China, way of thinking, are equal in beauty. in grace and in the poetry of motion These are the dances of the Javanese Mohammedans, especially the "love dance," in which only the younger women participate; the tarantella of Christian Italy and the butterfly dance of Japan. That dancing loses in poetry, in fire, in meaning, as civilization in-creases is the belief of this student of the art. The modern dances of civilized nations, especially as expounded on the stage, are not only meaningless and lacking in the beauty of the original dance, but actually degenerate and merely physical contortions that, while they may be rhythmic and graceful, are as insipid and as meaningless as the waddle of a duck.-Chicago Trib-
